INTEREST GROWS IN BABY CONTEST

Essay Competition for School Girls Will Be on in Earnest Within Few Days.

LAST STORY TOMORROW

With the Seven Articles Published Entrants Will Have a Wealth of Material for Compositions.

Two more days and The Washington Herald "better baby" essay contest will be on in earnest.

Although the contest really began on April 12, the first nine days have been devoted to giving the girls a series of short articles to aid them in preparing their essays. The last of these stories will appear in The Herald tomorrow morning—then the excitement will begin.

The seven articles printed this week have told you all about "How to Care for Baby." Now, you have two weeks left—until Saturday, May 6—in which to get your essay into The Herald office. It must not be more than 400 words long. Write in ink on one side of the paper, and put your name, address, school and grade on the first page.

The "better baby" editor expects to receive 2,500 essays. That is the exact number of girls attending the public graded and high schools of the District. Don't be discouraged by the thought of having so many to beat.

Think of how proud you will feel if the judges tell you that you have written the best essay out of 2,500!

You Should Begin Now.

This thought will bring you more happiness than the beautiful gold watch which you will receive if you write the best essay. The second best will receive a hand-carved gold bracelet. You can see these prizes in the window of Charles Schwartz & Son, Jewelers, 754 Seventh street northwest.

Begin your essay now. If you are a girl in the public graded or high schools, and don't be satisfied with the first one you write. You have two weeks, and each one you write will be better. If you are only in the third grade, don't feel that you will not be able to beat your older sister in the high schools. There are separate prizes for the high schools.

3. Essays should be based on the articles published daily from April 16 to 22.
4. Essays must contain not more than 400 words.
5. Essays should be addressed, "The Washington Herald Better Baby Editor."
6. Essays must be in The Herald office, 427 Eleventh street northwest, before 6 o'clock on the evening of May 6.
7. Essays will be turned over to five judges on Monday, May 8.
8. Contest will be open to all girls of the public graded and high schools.
9. Essays should be written on one side of the paper only, with the writer's name, age, address, school and grade on the first page.
10. Prizes will consist of a beautiful gold watch and a gold bracelet for the two high school girls writing the best essays and a gold watch and gold bracelet for the two winning graded school girls.

to be like clockwork with a baby. There should be certain hours for feeding the baby, the same time each day for the bath, a definite time for recreation out of doors, and if these become habit, they tend toward the proper growth and development of the child.

"The habit they called 'self entertainment' appealed to me. They told us a small baby could learn to amuse himself and that it is not necessary to have him constantly in the arms, since it only tires the mother and produces a tired, irritable child. I have made it a habit not to let anything, no matter what, interfere with my day's daily routine.

Pacifiers a Nuisance.

"What I have just told you would come under the head of good habits. But, Oh! Just think of all the bad habits a child may learn, and then think it is not his fault but his mother's. All the bad habits are acquired easily but are really difficult to break.

"The first one we talked about was thumb-sucking and the use of the pacifier. To break this habit, the baby's hands can be fastened down or better still he can wear a glove or mitten. The pacifier the baby can never get without the mother's aid. What do you think of druggists who keep and advise pacifiers for babies? The doctor says the thumb sucking or pacifier habit may cause thick, baggy lips, a forward projection of the front teeth because the bones are so soft, a deformed lower jaw for the same reason, and that even adenoids may thus be produced.

"A habit that comes later and may spoil a child forever is the habit of allowing him to choose his food. He soon becomes 'fussy' as to what he will eat and what he will not eat, and is not a joy to anyone. I am so glad now that as a child I was told to eat what was put before me or go without. As a result I eat everything and enjoy it too.
